

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

New Daleel Petroleum Football teams take shape

As part of a new drive to promote team-building outside the office environment, Daleel Petroleum has created its own Football Team composed of office staff from a variety of different positions within the company.

All Daleel staff members were invited to join the team and arrangements were made to play at The Oman Club in early January. 14 employees, including Mr. Chen Lie, the Chief Executive Officer, attended the first meeting. Other senior managers involved in the new team include: the C.O.O. Shukri Al-Mandhari, HR & Admin Manager Masoud Al-Maskari, Finance Manager Guru Lyer and Fahmy Al-Mashrafi, Economist & Planner.

The theory behind organising football matches between staff has been to help employees develop relationships in a relaxed and fun environment. Daleel hopes that this will also re-enforce professional relationships in the workplace, increasing productivity and efficiency.

There are now two teams which compete against each other. Team A is captained by Atif, a Daleel IT Engineer, and Team B by Fahmy Al Mashrafi. In a recent match between the two, Team B won by 9-3.

All those involved in the match agreed that it was a good idea to start up the team and become involved in an activity together outside the office environment. "At Daleel we place great importance on team-building among our staff." said Chen Lie, CEO of Daleel Petroleum. "I am very impressed with the team spirit and camaraderie that I have seen and felt through this activity and I am confident that it has been a valuable experience for all the staff members who have taken part.” he said. He added that the success of the football programme will pave the way for more team exercises in the future and that there are also plans to organise other activities for Daleel staff, including bowling trips.

دليل النفط
Daleel Petroleum

ENDS

Notes to Editors: Daleel Petroleum is a joint venture company between the MB Group and China National Petroleum Corporation (CNPC).

For more information please send to: Al.Rashdi@momentumpr.net